questbase is the new cross-platform application that provides everything you need to create and manage your assessments, tests, quizzes and exams, both on-line and printed. Designed as a training and learning tool, questbase can also be used for selection tests, certification exams, psychological assessments, satisfaction and opinion surveys, market researches and customer feedback.

Too many questions?

QuestBase gives you the freedom to ask. Whether you need to create quizzes, tests, exams, assessments or get feedback from surveys and polls, QuestBase helps you save time. Millions of questions already published and printed with QuestBase!

YOUR PERFECT TRAINING COMPANION

questbase is the new cross-platform application that provides everything you need to create and manage your assessments, tests, quizzes and exams, both on-line and printed. Designed as a training and learning tool, questbase can also be used for selection tests, certification exams, psychological assessments, satisfaction and opinion surveys, market researches and customer feedback.

As Easy As 1-2-3!

No software to install or configure — just create and take assessments from any computer or device with an internet connection, or print them on paper automatically, even in multiple different versions and with a professional layout. questbase is only one click away at www.questbase.com
add questions the way you want

Type questions manually, use the built-in web editor, import them from external files or take advantage of the easy-to-use wizards: whatever you choose, it's very simple to create your assessments and surveys! With a few mouse clicks, you can mix different question types, use pictures, movies, as well as special characters and math equations. Questions can be even categorized into multi-level topics.

on-line or printed? no problems

Once you have created your assessments, you can publish them on-line, share by e-mail or print on paper, with a realistic print preview. Users can take your assessments with any browsers — even with mobile phones and tablets. Test takers can learn from their mistakes with the help of custom feedback messages. You can make the assessments public or private, open or closed: you choose it.

get results in less time

Users take your assessments or surveys, and answers are automatically saved. You get real-time reports about your test takers and all responses can be displayed, printed or exported to other programs for later analysis. Automatic statistics and charts help you understand your results better. QuestBase makes simple to collect dozens or even thousands of responses — it's perfect if you are working with either small classes or large companies.